

MORGAN SMITH
ARCHITECT

929 GRAYSON STREET
BERKELEY, CA 94710

May12, 2009

Albion Power Company Small Commercial & Residential Solar

To Whom It May Concern:

I highly recommend the installation services of Albion Power Company as being of the highest quality and professionalism. As a Bay Area architect with 26 years experience, I recognize the value of Albion's team that provides superb quality at every phase of the installation. As experienced C-39 roofers, Albion Power's team can fully integrate solar into a variety of roofing products that will last the life of the system. This is an important consideration when making a long-term building improvement. Many solar companies simply drive a lag bolt through the roof and apply caulking for attachment; ignoring the interdependence of the roofing and the solar systems. Albion Power fully understands roofing, and integrates solar with quality in mind.

I have known John Dalzell as a roofer for 18 years and trust his commitment to quality implicitly. Charles Adams' years of managing contracts on large commercial solar systems, such as AT&T and Microsoft, enable him present well-designed power production and financial solutions relating solar as an investment. Albion Power's licensed electricians place an emphasis on NEC best practice wiring, over-current protection, and system grounding. These skills form a very effective team for solar integration.

My two solar systems – one commercial and one residential – are producing power consistent with what Mr. Adams had presented in his proposal. I find the solar investment in my property to be very gratifying.

Sincerely,

Morgan Smith